INJURED

Were Three Men At The Pittsburgh Plate Glass Factory

The storm of Friday was indirectly the cause of three accidents at the Pittsburgh Plate Glass factory in South Vernon. It appears that such a storm makes the glass more brittle, thus increasing the danger of breaking.

Friday afternoon, John Smith, his left arm badly cut, five stitches being necessary, because of the snapping of a glass "roller."

In the evening and from the same cause, Otto Rampeno had an artery and a vein in his left arm severed, six stitches being used to close up the wounds, and Motsey Fellm had a gash cut entirely through his upper lip, five stitches being used.

Mrs. Deely performed the necessary surgical work for the three men.

The fire department was called out, but the only damage done was the blackening of the wall paper.

FIRE

Occurs During Progress Of Heavy Storm

The long heralded and much desired rain came late Friday afternoon, kept on coming and was still coming Saturday. The severest parts of the storm occurred at 8 o'clock Friday evening and 4 o'clock Saturday morning. Lightning, thunder and wind accompanied the furious downpour.

The wind caused a fire in the flat occupied by John Harrison, corner Main and Front streets, above Charlie Hop's laundry. A lace curtain was carried back into the room and twisted around a burning gas jet.

From the outside, it appeared as if the whole room were ablaze. Harrison being absent, the door was broken down and the flames extinguished shortly before the fire department arrived. A large part of the wall paper was burned.

Batavia, Java, June 27—Many were killed or injured yesterday in a violent earthquake which caused widespread damage in southern Sumatra.

The offices of the Dutch resident and many other buildings collapsed at Benkoelen, the capital, and telegraph and cable communication was interrupted.

The British steamer Kintuck of the China Mutual Steam Navigation Company, crowded with emigrants, was reported 10 hours overdue and it is feared she has met with an accident in connection with the earthquake. A steamer has been sent from here to search for her.

William Vanatta Wanted In Orrville For Burglary

Makes A Clean Get-Away
From City Prison

Officers Unable To Get Any Trace Of The Man

William Vanatta, who was arrested in the Pennsylvania railroad yards Friday morning on a charge of burglary and larceny, alleged to have been committed in Orrville, Ohio, and put in the city lock-up, remained there but six hours. He was not given his freedom. He took the law into his own hands and in broad daylight, about 4 o'clock Friday afternoon, took his farewell of the lock-up and the officers who had placed him there, a stove door being the means of his escape.

When the Pennsylvania south bound train No. 528, rolled into the city at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon, off stepped Constable Huntsberger who keeps an eagle eye on all malefactors of Orrville and Wayne county, armed with a warrant for the arrest of a particularly annoying desperado, one Vanatta by name, who had eluded his clutches, but who had been located in Mt. Vernon. Jubilant, he accompanied the local officials to the city lock-up. Soon the prey would be his. Alas and alack! The door was opened and the bird had flown! Disappointment reigned supreme and Constable Huntsberger took the next train back, a very disheartened man.

It must be said that Vanatta made his escape in a very smooth fashion. The only implement in the room which could possibly be of use was the door of the stove. This, he unhooked. Then he stepped to the east window and gradually pried off the brace which held the bars in the window.

Then, by what must have been a prodigious effort, he bent the bars at the bottom until a space large enough for his body to pass through was made. Climbing out on the back roof, he leaped to the ground and walked away a free man. And all this in broad daylight, with four firemen sitting in the engine room! These latter stated that they heard the stove door drop on the floor above and the horses were frightened thereby. However, they thought that nothing was amiss and were not even alarmed to the extent of making an investigation.

Local officers of the law made a thorough search of the railroad yards Friday evening in the hopes that Vanatta might have taken that means to make good his escape. No trace or clew was found.

The bars that Vanatta bent were reinforced Saturday morning. Chief of Police Parker stated that it had been his opinion all along that a mere brace was too little a precaution against a prisoner's escaping. Bolts in the corners of the windows will probably be put in shortly.

The local officers will leave no stone unturned to discover the whereabouts of Vanatta, though the matter, at present, presents a rather hopeless aspect.

STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

Lightning struck the northeast end of the Jones building on the public square at the hour of 4 o'clock Saturday morning. The attraction was strange as there were no wires near by. Little damage was done, some half dozen bricks being dislodged and knocked down to the pavement below.

"He Comes Up Smiling," a comedy by Byron Ogley and Emil Nyitray, is to be produced at Atlantic City next month, with Douglas Fairbanks heading the cast.

Ratto and His "Company of Eminent Artists"

JOHN B. RATTO.

It is impossible to say too much in favor of John B. Ratto, who not many years ago was selling papers on Chicago streets. Today he stands as one of the world's greatest impersonators. He brings to the opening day of Chautauqua week his "Company of Eminent Artists," meaning himself.

While most of Ratto's program is humorous, here and there he slips in a touch of the darker side of life that never fails to score heavily. He "makes up" before his audience and tells appropriate stories while he does so.

From a Pennsylvania city where Ratto appeared recently came the report that he gave "the cleanest and most masterful series of character sketches ever presented here." The South Bend (Ind.) Tribune says, "His appearance here was a real event and an occasion long to be remembered." The Sioux Falls Argus Leader says, "Truly wonderful—made good at once—without a peer."

Mr. Hoy Russell went to Oshkosh, Wisconsin, Saturday to join Mr. John Schnibly of this city and sell breakfast food.

Mrs. E. C. Fry of North Sandusky street went to Bellville this morning to visit Mrs. J. M. Klatz. From there she will go to Mansfield and be the guest of her sister, Mrs. E. A. Orr.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Wintermute, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Mowery and Mr. C. F. Daly of this city left Saturday for Columbus to attend the national convention of the I. B. S. A. which is being held in that city.
